ABOUT

I am a full-time MBA graduate with a strong interest in Human Resource Management and business partnering. I started my career as a System Engineer, where I developed analytical thinking, stakeholder management, and problem-solving skills. I later gained one year of experience in HR as part of the Resource Management Group (RMG) Business Partner function at TCS where I was involved in resource allocation, stakeholder coordination, and workforce planning. During my MBA, I further strengthened my knowledge through projects and internships in core HR areas such as talent management and employee engagement. With this blend of technical and HR experience, I aim to build my career as an HR Business Partner, contributing to business outcomes through effective people strategies.
